Re: In re Global Crossing Ltd. et al., IB Docket No. 02-286

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Global Crossing Ltd. ("GCL") and GC Acquisition Limited ("New GX" and, together with GCL, "Applicants") provide the information below to update Applicants' Application for Consent to Transfer of Control and Petition for Declaratory Ruling (the "Application") and to further supplement Applicants' data request responses of December 18, 2002.

The primary purpose of this letter is to advise the Commission, pursuant to Sections 1.767(a)(8) and 63.18(i)-(k) of the Commission's Rules, 47 C.F.R. §§ 1.767(a)(8) and 63.18(i)-(k), that Singapore Technologies Telemedia Pte Ltd ("ST Telemedia"), one of the proposed investors in New GX, has advised Applicants that its subsidiary, Indonesia Communications Limited ("ICL"), has acquired a 41.94% stake in PT Indonesian Satellite Corporation ("Indosat") and that ST Telemedia has acquired control of Indosat.[1] Following the completion of this transaction on December 20, 2002, Indosat's shareholders voted to appoint certain of ICL's nominees to the Board of Directors and Board of Commissioners of Indosat on December 27, 2002. As a result, under the Commission's Rules, Indosat will be considered a foreign affiliate of New GX upon consummation of the Proposed Transaction.

Indosat (together with its subsidiaries) is an Indonesian telecommunications and information technologies company and is the primary provider of international telecommunications services in Indonesia, a World

[1] The information in this letter relating to Indosat was provided to Applicants by ST Telemedia.

Trade Organization Member. Indosat's principal business is to provide international telecommunications services, including local fixed line, domestic long distance, and mobile cellular services. The company also provides a variety of non-switched international telecommunication services, such as multimedia, data communications, and Internet services. Indosat controls the following companies providing telecommunications services:

Name of Company	Countries of Operation	Principal Telecommunications Services Provided
PT Satelit Palapa Indonesia ("Satelindo")	Indonesia	GSM 900 MHz cellular mobile, satellite-based telecommunications, and international telecommunications (IDD, VOIP and international submarine cable)
PT Indosat Multi Media Mobile	Indonesia	DCS 1800 MHz cellular mobile
PT Aplikanusa Lintasarta	Indonesia	Data communications

Indosat also appears on the Commission's List of Foreign Telecommunications Carriers that are Presumed to Possess Market Power in Foreign Telecommunications Markets. Therefore, New GX agrees to be regulated as dominant on the U.S.-Indonesia route upon consummation of the Proposed Transaction.

In addition, Applicants note that request number 6 of the Commission's December 4, 2002 data requests asked whether "any of the foreign affiliates [of New GX] have market power in the provision of submarine cable landing stations in their respective markets." Applicants hereby supplement their December 18, 2002 response to that question by stating that they have been advised by ST Telemedia that Indosat, together with its subsidiary Satelindo, controls a majority of the cable landing stations in Indonesia. Indosat is an Indonesian company located at Gedung Indosat, J1. Medan Merdeka, Barat No. 21, Jakarta 10110. Satelindo is an Indonesian company located at J1. Daan Mogot, KM. 11, Jakarta Barat.

Applicants also update the information provided in their January 16, 2003 letter to the Commission with respect to the status of other regulatory approvals required to consummate the Proposed Transaction. Since the date of that letter, Applicants have received approvals from two of the three remaining U.S. states in which approval is required. Approval from the Arizona Corporation Commission is expected on or about February 11, 2003. On January 16, 2003, the European Union completed its competition review and cleared the Proposed Transaction.

Applicants regret the brief unavoidable delay in filing this letter and are filing as soon as all required information has become available. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact the undersigned.

Respectfully submitted,
