Subject: allow broadcasting at under 100 watts

The Federal Communications Commission should allow those broadcast with 100 watts or less. Right now our airwaves are controlled by white men and it is time for that white monopoly to end so that ideas from people of color can be heard for a change.

People of color have first amendment rights and they pay taxes. Yet somehow the FCC maintains this fiction that all Americans have access to the airwaves. Allowing 100 watts or less broadcasting will be a minor step in allowing people of color to penetrate the airwaves with their ideas.

Stop making criminals out of those who are exercising their first amendment rights. End this nonsense and work to make the airwaves more colorful.

Subject: "Pirate" Community Radio

I have to commend Steve Dunnifer and all the others who have the dedication to fight the real pirates in radio: Commercial Broadcast stations with there 24-7 garbage and the FCC for keeping real people off the air.

I have more respect for Radio Carson than I do for any one employee of the FCC. You levy fees, fines, and utilize threat and intimidation to keep the people of America submissive. Look at your homepage commetary on "Pirate" radio. "Don't do it." Spare me. You are not authorized to enforce the shutdown of stations under 100W, yet you are interfering with transmissions in Pittsburgh by the only station worth listening to. Remember that there are more kids against you than for you.

The revolution will not be televised.
