

As the Superintendent of Schools in the Roane County School District in Spencer, West Virginia, I wish to express my full support for the FCC's proposal to license low power FM radio stations. This would create tremendous opportunities for community service. With the advent of computer technology, it would be quite feasible to operate a low power FM station with computer-programmed information and entertainment. If this proposal is approved, I wish to apply for a low power FM license either to operate personally or to operate through our school district, and would appreciate any additional information you could send me as to how I could apply.
