

I support the low-power proposal. Radio has become increasingly homogenized by economic pressures and absorption of stations into large corporate blocs, which is antagonistic to the principle of free expression. Low-power FM is a partial antidote to this problem.