

To Whom It May Concern:

I am in favor of LPFM. I am also in favor of control, for without it there would be 'Rule of the mob'.

With proper control I do believe a 'happy' medium can be reached that would benefit all parties. Granted this is always easier said than done, and there will be those who refuse to follow the rules. I do believe overall this would be a good thing for most of the people. It would be a great venue to 'air' your thoughts or feelings. The low power would insure it stays local and does not impinge on commercial signals. Thou I do believe enforcement would become increasing harder, I feel your origination is more than capable to handle it.
