

Dear FCC,

I want to take this opportunity to tell you that my area needs a low powered FM station, and the USA would benefit greatly from licensing of low power FM stations. I live in a rural area, the non-profit FM stations here are far away and over several mountains, and I can rarely receive them. The local commercial stations are adequate, but do not cover any local news pertinent to my rural community of Highway 20. Also the commercials are often for shopping outside our area, i.e. not locally oriented. Our area needs a low power FM station to keep our neighbors informed, and to assist during local emergency situations. Thank you. Bob Young
