

I strongly oppose low power FM because they could conflict with established frequencies and has the potential to impair the ability of digital signals to reach listeners. I think the notion of low power FM reallu sucks!