

Low power FM stations are a bad answer to a non-existent problem. Having more out-of-market religious broadcasters choking the band, as well as hundreds of former pirates, each trying to one - up each other is a frightening possibility. It will leave FM in the same wretched condition as the current AM band.

William Blomgren

Charlotte