

Regarding 99-25 LPFM (Low Power FM)

Having looked at the takeover of the broadcast band by "mega" corporation, and the loss of the small station to these corporations, it is a prudent move on the part of the FCC to allow for these LPFM stations. It will bring back to the small community, a means of a license holder, within the community to provide a necessary "public service" something that can't occur when the stations are owned by corporations from either coast.

I hope that the commission works quickly on these station, and provide an easy application for any one in a community that wishes to put a LPFM station on the air.
