

I am very much in favor of LPFM. I hope the stations will not be allocated based on who can pay the most for a license (auctioning) and I do not want them to be commercial stations.

I think that 1-10 watt stations have a place on the FM dial and would like to see these interspersed amongst the 50KW stations as alternatives to people who will "dig" them out of the blanking and intermod interference to find alternative radio. I hope you will give precedence to stations who are different from the mainstream, highly formatted and focus group led commercial stations. In other words I would like to see LPFM stations used not for profit but for alternative radio.
