

I would like to ask the FCC to create space for LPFM stations from 1-100 watts that are designed for noncommercial community broadcast.

I would also like to ask the FCC to NOT create space for LPFM as a means of making money. I do not wish to see a new class of 1,000 watts stations (except in very rural/remote areas). I fear such a class will create a new tier of medium power/size commercial stations (perhaps even owned by current commercial broadcasters)

Finally, I encourage the FCC to grant amnesty to microradio pioneers.

Thank you,
