

There is no technical reason prohibiting the establishment of low-power FM stations. Therefore the FCC should approve this docket.