

I want to voice my support on 99-52. It is my opinion that while large radio stations feel a needed role, smaller community radio might be very good for the country. Neighborhood watch, news, and other information that is specific to a very small area might be useful in promoting communication in communities.