

I like the idea, especially if steps are taken to limit interference with and FROM current high-power FM. So long as all parties stay within spec, I see nothing wrong with it. But that is a big IF if there is insufficient monitoring.