

This is a fantastic idea! Not only will this give small communities local radio stations, but it will also enable small "niche" stations to fill the gaps between standard large-station programming.