

I support the proposal for low-power FM, as long as steps are taken to ensure that the stations remain in the hands of those committed to their communities, rather than corporate broadcasters, and that full-power stations are not adversely affected by the low-power signals.