FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY

Dear Mr. Kennard,

I am writing to support low-power FM Radio. There are many reasons why local radio is essential to a healthy community. First, local radio creates an easy access for community participation and stimulation of the local voices culturally. The idea of, "It's just little old me," or "what can I do?" diminishes when people have access to the power of speech. The local radio is a catalyst for people of all gender, race, or orientation to show their point of view. It allows for the "understanding" of cultural misunderstandings. Communication is an answer to community empowerment. Empowerment leads to a proactive and healthy community.

Second, local radio can stimulate local businesses with lower cost advertising. It would only help the community when businesses have an affordable option to advertise their local shops and centers. Again, local radio can help the community by stimulating the local economy. When there is more money in the community, the community appears more acceptable and well adjusted.

Local radio is not only healthy for the community but essential. Please support the Free the Airwaves Campaign.

Sincerely,

Casea Kim
