Dear FCC Commissioner,

RECEIVED

We represent a coalition of licensed community radio stations in Colorado. We are asking you to approve the proposal to license low power stations especially in rural areas which are not currently being served by radio originating within their own communities. Current licensing regulations and fees make it prohibitively time-consuming and expensive for a new station to get on the air.

Federal Communications Commission
Office of Secretary

Low power stations should be locally owned and operated and limited to one frequency per licensee.

We highly endorse the concept of radio originating from and serving community access for the people who live there.
