

I wish to comment on the use of ground-penetrating radar as a UWB device. My company has operated these devices on and near airport radio towers on Air Force and Marine Air Bases without incident. We have just purchased a new GPR unit and will take a significant loss if it is declared illegal. The utility of these units is great and we wish to continue using ours. Thank you. David Butler