

My company has been using wireless to get broadband to cities not serviced by DSL for over 3 years. More spectrum would be nice because it would allow for our services to not be interfered with or interfered with less by Universities, Municipalities, competitors, and Telecom companies that use the same chunk of spectrum thus causing interference. If lower parts of the spectrum were used it would allow non line of site delivery possible.

Dave Cates
I-NET of New Mexico