

As an ISP offering or planning to offer broadband wireless Internet services, we ask that the FCC increase the "unlicensed" frequency band spectrums to assist in reaching as many entities as possible, within both line-of-site and non-line-of-site technologies. This request for more "bandwith" will allow more options for individuals wanting high-speed Internet access where they might not have other options, and it will allow multiple ISP's and other business using wireless networks to co-exist.
