

I am totally against the broadband proposal for high speed internet via the power lines as it will definitely cause interference to the amateur bands. I have been a ham for 50 years and do not want to give up my hobby now because of high levels of noise on the hf frequencies.