

Of course, I have not read everything there is about broadband over power line, but I have read several articles. I do think it would be great, people like my mother who lives in a rural area have few broadband alternatives. I have seen many complaints by people who use radios to communicate with friends, but they can always be assigned different frequencies.