

Even the best estimates indicate about a 30 db increase in background noise across the HF spectrum due to BPL. This would have negative, and probably fatal, consequences for both military and commercial aircraft communications which are already often noise limited. BPL is a very bad idea.