

I'm really upset on this issue the reason being is that the networks have been lagging on the programming side of things and havn't promoted the coming HDTV transition enough. The networks that are good examples of this are FOX, PAX, UPN, WB, Univision, and Telmundo. I really hope for these networks survival that they get with the HDTV program or be forced of the airwaves.