

PLC has no place in this country where broadband access is already available in many forms including cable modems, DSL, Sat, fiber, etc. If any effort should be placed on comms, it should be in eliminating sources of broadband noise, not in creating more. I am totally against this technology being used in the U.S. or anywhere else. John J. Schmitz/NS8E