

I wish to register my opposition with the FCC to the current proposal to distribute broadband internet connectivity over power lines. Unless steps are taken to ensure that the signals carried over the power lines are shielded from producing RF interference, Amateur Radio, as well as all other incumbent users of HF bands will suffer greatly--possibly to the point of their demise.