

I am very concerned with the proposed new rules which will allow further monopolization of local television and print markets, as reported by William Safire in the New York Times.

The monopolization of radio has been disastrous enough. We don't need television and print to follow suit.