

I am a radio amateur. To allow broadband transmission of data on the high frequency bands on power lines would generate noise on those bands making receiving of weak signals impossible. During times of emergency, we would not be able to receive weak signals from mobile stations operating in the areas where emergency communications is necessary. Therefore, it would not be in the public interest to allow broad band data on power lines.

Respectfully,

James H. Abercrombie, Jr.