

I am interested in broad band over power lines as I live in rural VT where there is no other access at this time other than traditional dial up. I heard about this technology several years ago. Does it use the magnetic fields surrounding the power lines. What a greta idea.

Sign me up.

Ed