

I am in favor of allowing broadband computer access over electric lines. I live in a rural area where Verizon Communications does not offer broadband and I have to use dialup internet connection. My service is at 2400bps which is far to slow for todays applications. I was gratified to hear that broadband may become available over the electric lines which service the entire country and does not leave us subject to the whims of a telephone monopoly.