

I am strongly opposed to this technology without proper review and implementation. The potential for good is enormous, as is the potential for bad.