

Dear FCC,

I think it would be very unfair to allow unshielded RF radiation from power lines to raise the noise floor for all other spectrum users. I feel this is a stupid idea and a waste of power. The power company is welcome to transmit data using the proper conductor and will find fiber optics a smarter choice with more bandwidth possible.

Francis Carcia WA1GFZ