

I would like to express my displeasure with the broadband over powerline communications method. Unless extensive testing can verify that no interference would occur to Ham radio bands I can be nothing but opposed to it.