

I feel the interference from the power lines would be unacceptable since the power line noise is bad enough without creating more.