

in reference to the broadband via powerline proposal it seems that ham radio operators and some commercial radio services would be adversely effected, possibly to the point of non-operational on some freq. especially hf ham radio allocation and existing comercial services should have protection of spectrum used currently and new tech should not be allowed to interfere with existing users because of this i oppose broad band over powerline in its current form