

Dear Sir/Madam: Please-please disallow the BPL proposal. It will spell disaster for our amateur bands. Big business will certainly be the benefactor and will without question be indifferent to remediation complaints of interference that could jeopardize their profits. A good example is the TV cable system. There are leaky cable systems that interfere with the higher HF bands and two-meters in my area, and trying to get a request for remediation is akin to fighting local bureaucrats for a zone change or applying for a building permit. Conceptually it is an intriguing idea, but it poses far too many negative consequences for a much relied upon radio service who have little/or no resources or representation to fight back against the "fat-cats" who stand to reap the billions waiting in the wings.

Thank you,
Kurt J. Magni (NN3C)
