

As an amateur radio operator, I am deeply disturbed by the information I have read on the "broadband over Power Lines" subject. Just as we are required to assure we aren't causing interference, so should the internet provider system. If this means no BPL then so be it regardless of the cost to big business. I hope this issue is handled in an equitable manner so as not to jeopardize amateur radio.

Sincerely,
Rich Taracka