

As an Amateur Radio Operator, I am concerned about the interference that Broadband Over Power Lines (BPL) would create on the Amateur HF bands. Germany and Japan have decided not to utilize this technology for this very reason. It appears to me that the Commission is more interested in money from telecommunications companies rather than sensible feasibility of finite radio frequencies which is what it was created to do. Thank You. Amateur Radio Operator KC0PBY.