

Would not the interference caused by the power lines cause jamming of international broadcast programs? A practice strongly objected to by the United States of other countries.