

I strongly oppose the introduction of BPL technology that will adversely affect HF and VHF radio communications.

The FCC has a responsibility to regulate any technology that negatively impacts other communication services. BPL is such a technology. It has already been proved that this technology will severely degrade existing radio communications systems; systems that are used for public safety and service, such as Amateur Radio.

Sincerely,
Darrell Earnshaw