

I am strongly opposed to the current proposal to use power lines for high speed digital internet service. Use of unshielded power line wire to carry short wave band signals will cause short wave band RF "pollution" on an unprecedented scale. The FCC must protect the short wave and other RF spectrum for public use.