

I have read the technical reviews submitted by the ARRL and am aware of the response to such proposals in other countries. Rather than reiterate their positions I simply submit that it seems evident that this proposal, if enacted in it's present form, will have a devastating effect on Amateur Radio nationwide at a time when the capabilities of those ham radio operators have proven to be a great asset to our homeland security efforts. Why would we even consider such an action?? Respectfully submitted.