

I agree with the comments filed by the ARRL concerning Broadband over power lines. This approach if put into widespread use would cause great disruption to use of the HF spectrum for amateur, commercial, and military users. Other technologies exist that serve the broadband customers already such as cable and DSL.