

As a amateur radio operator that is very active in providing emergency communications I see BPL as a serious threat in our ability to serve both the public and the department of homeland security.

The wide band noise generated by BPL will render a majority of the HF bands useless. It is these bands that allow us to serve in the time of a national emergency. Therefore I oppose the approval of any form of a BPL based Internet service in the United States.