

Spark gap transmitters were outlawed years ago because of broadband radiated noise and harmonics and now BPL will cause the same broadband noise problems only it will be coming directly over the powerlines. This is a bad idea.