

I am extremely concerned over the Broadband Over Powerline proposal. The FCC should be busy reducing emissions from "accidental" or unintentional" sources -- not promoting them! This will cause grave harm to many other services and is only justified by giving profits to some private enterprises. Broadband internet access is available today from many other sources that do not cause harm. Please kill this idea!