

Recent studies by ARRL and others have shown significant RFI to the amateur bands, business and commercial transmissions and consumer electronics such as cordless phones.

I urge the FCC not to allow BPL without considering the consequences. Events as 9/11 and the recent northeast black-out show how important amateur radio is and how unreliable power lines are.

Thank you for consideration of this correspondence.