

Broadband signals conducting on public open power lines will generate interference with all existing High Frequency modes of communications. I pray that the Corporate Dollar is not more powerful than common sense.