

ARRL field tests confirm the existence of substantial levels of HF interference emanating from test systems transmitting broadband data via power lines. The signal levels emanating from the BPL test systems were well beyond nuisance level; rather, they were destructive. Implementation of this technology in its present form will, no doubt, seriously undermine the ability of amateur and commercial HF operations to effectively communicate.

David A. Raymond
2003 352nd Place
Earlham, Iowa 50072
Amateur Extra Class Radio Call: W0FLS
Email: d.raymond@motorola.com
Phone: 515-834-2420